

Hydro rebate not enough, Scott says

by CHAD INGRAM
Times Staff

Haliburton-Kawartha Lakes-Brock MPP Laurie Scott says the Wynne government's pledge to reduce hydro rates for Ontarians isn't good enough.

The provincial government announced Monday that electricity rebates will reduce Hydro One bills by between eight and 20 per cent, depending on location. Rebates will be based on density. That announcement was part of a Throne Speech that came following the sudden prorogation of the provincial legislature, which critics say is an attempt by the poorly polling Liberal government to reset the political agenda.

The prorogation came following the loss of a long-held Liberal seat in a GTA by-election.

"It's like they just woke up," Scott told the paper. "Hydro has been the No. 1 issue for years. The cost of hydro is destroying the province. People can't stay in their homes. It takes a by-election loss in a riding the Liberals have never lost since the riding was created for her [Wynne] to wake up. They've ignored the people, in this riding, especially, for years."

Scott said she has a staffer whose main function it is to field calls regarding hydro rates.

The average hydro bill is likely to decrease

Province shortens municipal election period

by CHAD INGRAM
Times Staff

When municipal elections take place throughout Ontario in 2018, they will be somewhat different from the ones that happened in 2014.

The province has passed a number of changes to the Municipal Elections Act and chief among them is a shortening of the campaign period, which will shrink by 120 days.

Previously, Jan. 1 of an election year was the earliest date candidates could register. The deadline was the second Friday in September.

Under the new regulations, the earliest date to register will be May 1 and the deadline the fourth Friday in July.

The change is one that seems welcome to county politicians.

"I really like the shortened campaign period, especially for our small communities," said Algonquin Highlands Reeve Carol Moffatt. "That time frame allows plenty of time to catch up with seasonal folks and still run a condensed, focused campaign. Some by 10 per cent, a rate Scott says is not sufficient.

She was asked what a realistic, achievable decrease would be.

“That’s a tough question,” she said. “You’d have to get in there and see what’s going on at Hydro One. They continue to lie to us on the energy file.”

The PC MPP pointed to executive salaries and bonuses, saying they are exorbitantly high, and also criticized the continuing privatization of Hydro One.

“I have more people in energy poverty than ever before,” Scott said.

“It takes a by-election loss in a riding the Liberals have never lost since the riding was created for her to wake up.

maintain that a candidate who declares in January is somehow more committed than someone who declares in August and I just don’t buy that.”

Minden Hills Reeve Brent Devolin said the previous campaign periods were too long.

“If you can run a provincial or federal election in 34 days, surely you can run a municipal one in six months.

— DYSART ET AL REEVE MURRAY FEARREY

municipal candidates must acquire the signatures of 25 people who support their nomination in order to run.

“I suppose it’s a way of weeding out questionable candidates,” Moffatt said. “That is, if you can’t find 25 people to support you then you might need to re-think the confidence of the public at large.”

“If you can’t get 25 signatures . . . I mean 25 votes won’t get you anything,” said Devolin, who agreed the measure was likely designed to reduce the number of fringe candidates.

“It allows for somebody who’s committed,” Burton said, while Fearrey thought the requirement was meaningless.

The changes also provide municipalities the option of adopting the ranked ballot system for their elections.

It seems unlikely that any of Haliburton County’s four lower-tier townships will be adopting the system any time soon.

“I can see the merit of the ranked ballot system in communities where there are numerous candidates for generalized positions but I question its usefulness in small communities like ours with the ward system where acclamations are common and voter turnout isn’t great,” Moffatt said. “That is, if two people are running, one wins and one doesn’t. I can’t get much simpler.”

“Honestly, I don’t know,” said Devolin. “Obviously, with two candidates it doesn’t have any bearing.”

Devolin added the system could have some value in wards or communities where there are numerous candidates.

“It’s a complicated system that, to me, isn’t required,” said Burton.

Other changes include measures to improve enforcement and compliance with elections rules – such as filing financial statements by deadline – and requirements for clerks to provide accessibility plans for voting locations.

Minden Terry Fox run this weekend

by DARREN LUM
Times Staff

As far as Canadian heroes they don't get much better than Terry Fox.

The night before he had his right leg amputated because of a malignant tumour he became inspired by a story he read about an amputee runner. It led him to embark on run across Canada to raise a $1 for every person in the country with his Marathon of Hope in 1980 at the age of 21. His fundraising run started in Newfoundland with the gesture of dipping his prosthetic leg into the Atlantic Ocean. The distance he travelled is legendary. Fox ran through six provinces, covering 5,373 kilometres in 143 days. It was the average of a marathon a day. He was forced to stop outside Thunder Bay because his cancer had spread to his lungs. He eventually died from the complications, but his efforts and advocacy have not been forgotten.

Thirty-six years have passed and people continue to run in his name and to fundraise for cancer research. There are thousands of runs held across the country and around the world because of volunteers. The new heroes organize not just to honour his legacy, but to honour everyone touched by cancer.

Minden's run co-ordinator Diane Peacock is one of those heroes. She has volunteered for 17 years with the Terry Fox Foundation and helped to co-ordinate the event for the past 10 years, done over 10 months.

Peacock's great niece Victoria Peacock of Ennismore continues to drive her like she did when she started.

It's been seven years of remission for 12-year-old Victoria, who was diagnosed with kidney cancer at nine months. This coming weekend she will be with her Girl Guides troop camping, living life like any young girl, Peacock said, smiling with bright eyes.

This past Monday she was near to tears, knowing the flag with the words, Terry Lives Here, was high up on the flagpole at Minden's township office, as it was last year. She said it announces to everyone in Minden what their support has meant to the success of the run.

"This is the way that we can show a thank you to the town," she said.

There has been $250,000 raised in the 23 years of the run, owed to participant, community and business support. This year there have already been 35 items donated for the silent auction, which is open to participants and spectators.

Every May Peacock and other run co-ordinators are invited to a workshop in Toronto to meet with cancer researchers, who talk about how the money helps them work towards a cure.

"We see where the money is going. We see what is happening. There is big things going on. Clinical trials in Ottawa right now with Dr. John Bell, using viruses to kill the tumour. There is no chemo involved," she said.

She also learned of Dr. David Malkin, who is a senior scientist and oncologist at The Hospital for Sick Kids. His cure rate for childhood leukemia is 90 per cent.

Just before the Fox flag was raised, a ceremonial photo was taken with Terry Fox Run for Minden committee members and volunteers and the municipal politicians, including Reeve Brent Devolin and Nancy Lowes, a volunteer for 15 years.

Although she started to assist her daughter (and then her son) in high school to get community hours for graduation, she continued to run the feed station with students at the turn around point of the route for the family connection to cancer. Lowes's uncle Elmer Russell died from lung cancer in 1979 while her mother, Dolores MacGregor, is a survivor.

"I do it for them," she said.

She adds, the progress of the cancer research definitely factored in her mother receiving successful treatment for cervical cancer when she diagnosed close to 18 years ago.

Peacock said this year's 10 kilometre route is the same as last year.

It starts at 9:30 a.m. this Sunday and begins from the upper parking lot of the Minden Hills Community Centre, then Prentice Street, left onto Bobcaygeon Road, right on Deep Bay Road to Mistivale Trail and return to the start. Registration is at 9 a.m.

However any distance or donation is welcome. Walk, run, blade or bicycle what you can and give what you can. She points to the back of her Terry Fox T-shirt featuring Fox's words: The answer is to try and help others.

Peacock, who pointed out there is a lot of work behind the scenes, said without businesses, organizations and people like Lowes, the event wouldn't happen.

"We could not do this run without the volunteers, the businesses that donate. I don't have a budget like some of the other runs. They have budgets for advertising. They have budgets for buying stuff. I have zero budget," she said. "I rely on the donations from the businesses for our silent auction and for our food table, our water table and everything."

The Terry Fox flag is held by Minden's Reeve Brent Devolin, Councillor Jeanne Anthon, Terry Fox Run committee members Dana Manning, Steve Taylor and Joan Taylor, Linda Nesbitt and Ron Nesbitt, who is also a councillor, Councillor Jean Neville, environmental and property operations manager Ivan Ingram, run co-ordinator Diane Peacock and event volunteer Nancy Lowes.

Demolition on the former Minden arena, which for more than three decades has operated as part of Norm Mills Auctions, began last week. The property at the corner of Highway 35 and County Road 21 is for sale. CHAD INGRAM Staff

Minden landmark comes down

by CHAD INGRAM
Times Staff

Minden is without one of its long-time landmarks after the large, orange barn at the corner of Highway 35 and County Road 21 was demolished last week.

While many residents will know the barn as part of Norm Mills's auction business, fewer may know the building was originally the Minden arena and was once located in the heart of the village.

Constructed in 1949, the arena was located where the Minden Hills township office and parking lot are today.

In what Minden Hills Deputy-reeve Cheryl Murdoch estimates was the late 1950s, the building was deconstructed and then reconstructed at the Highway 35 location.

"I was just a kid at home," Murdoch says.

She remembers because the building was purchased by her parents, Clare and Dorothy Walker, who owned Walker's Lumber.

"My dad bought it, took it apart and rebuilt it," Murdoch says, explaining Clare had a number of carpenters and other workers on his staff.

At its location along Highway 35, the building would continue to operate as part of Walker's Lumber until Mills bought the property in 1982.

The property is currently for sale.

Left, the Minden arena under construction in 1949. Below left, the arena is Minden's most predominant building in this undated aerial photo. Below, note the "snack bar and registration" sign.

"SHAKE WELL. SETTLING IS NORMAL." I FEEL BETTER AND I HAVEN'T EVEN TAKEN IT."

Shorter is sweet

WHEN THE NEXT round of Ontario municipal elections happen in 2018, the campaign period will be substantially shorter than it was in 2014.

And that will be a good thing.

The provincial government recently passed numerous amendments to the Municipal Elections Act.

Probably the most substantial of those changes is the shrinking of the campaign period by 120 days.

Previously, the earliest date to register as a candidate in a municipal election was the first day of the year, the deadline the second Friday in September. Now the earliest date for registration is May 1, with last call on the fourth Friday of July.

Elections themselves happen the fourth Monday of October.

There is simply no reason for municipal election campaigns to be as long as they've been.

Dysart et al Reeve Murray Fearrey, a perennial political fixture in the county, put it very succinctly.

"If you can run a provincial or federal election in 34 days, surely you can run a municipal one in six months," he said.

That's difficult to refute. Notwithstanding the fact it comes from a man who's been consistently elected to municipal office for a sum term that is longer than many of us have been alive.

"It's insane," Minden Hills Reeve Brent Devolin said of the previous campaign period. And one could make the argument that Devolin benefited from such a lengthy contest.

In 2014, both he and then-reeve Barb Reid declared their candidacy on the first day possible, while Minden Hills residents were still sleeping off their New Year celebrations.

Devolin went on to smash the incumbent in the election.

Look south of the border to see the circus that is created from a cruel and unusually lengthy election period. With murmurings and primaries included, American presidential elections last virtually half a term.

Honestly. How sick are you of hearing about Hillary Clinton and Donald Trump? And you don't even live in that country.

The shortened campaign period still leaves candidates plenty of time to pound the proverbial pavement, to get their messages out to voters, including, importantly, seasonal residents.

(It should be noted that election signage is governed locally, with municipal bylaws generally allowing signs for a number of weeks leading up to the election date itself.)

It also gives councils more time to concentrate on the work they were elected to do. Council chambers have a tendency to morph into political theatres in election years.

The province has done right by shortening the municipal campaign period.

As for Trump and Clinton, there's not much it can do about that. Is there?

The fiscally responsible duck hunter

THE OTHER DAY I WENT bought some ammunition for an upcoming duck hunt. I hadn't purchased any in a few years because I had lots. Boy, was I in for a surprise.

The last time I bought ammo, you could get a box of 25 for around $13, which meant every time you shot at a duck it cost about 50 cents before taxes. Now, the same ammunition is around $23 a box.

That means by the time you pay taxes, it now costs the hunter a dollar every time he or she pulls the trigger.

Clearly, this is going to change the way fiscally responsible duck hunters operate.

For instance, it used to be that when a flock of ducks approached, I would be evaluating the proper lead, best time to pop up and shoot and which duck to take first. Now, I will be weighing this against the long- and short-term economic impact, the cost effectiveness and general value of the target on a per pound basis.

In other words, when a flock of ducks approaches, I'll be targeting the biggest bird.

Here's an example. A male goose weighing around 10 pounds is approaching from one way and a green-winged teal hen weighing half a pound is flying in from the other direction.

Clearly, not much math is required here.

The teal, based on the fact that I'm shooting $1 loads is basically costing $2 a pound at the least and $6 a pound if I only get it on the third shot. On the other hand, the goose is 10 cents a pound. Clearly, the goose is a better bargain. I mean even if I miss the first two shot and get it on the third, it's still only 30 cents a pound.

A tougher decision will be if two like-sized birds are coming in, for instance a wood duck drake and a widgeon hen. The former weigh 1.5 pounds, on average. That means that it will cost the hunter 67 cents a pound. The latter weighs 1.6 pounds, on average, which means the cost per pound is 62 cents.

It's only a five cent a pound difference but, over the season, it adds up.

To get the best deal you are going to also have to assess if the ducks in question are fatter or leaner than average. Also, you'll have to decide if the better tasting and likely most expensive wood duck is within your budgetary range.

The good news is while you are considering all these factors, both ducks will have come and gone and you'll have missed the shot opportunity altogether. On the plus side, you will have saved yourself some money.

The high price of ammo will be good for conservation too, especially for those species of birds that are not as palatable.

Mergansers, goldeneyes, buffleheads and coots are probably celebrating in the marsh right now. Also, smaller birds such as green- and blue-winged, ruddy ducks, and wood duck hens are probably breathing a sigh of relief.

Geese, big mallard drakes and canvasbacks are probably even more nervous though.

As for hunters, they'll now begin to understand that an unopened box of ammunition only appreciates in time. Personally, I'm thinking of keeping several boxes in a bank vault for a decade or so, so I just might be able to retire in style.

Deer hunters face a similar situation, by the way. For the first time ever, they will be hoping for less bang for their buck.

IN OTHER WORDS

Columns and Letters to the Editor

Deception Pinocchio style

OH! WHAT A TANGLED WEB WE WEAVE, when first we practice to deceive.

Sir Walter Scott had never heard of Ontario when he wrote that line for his play Marmion back in 1808. Ontario wasn't even a province back then.

Wally didn't know it then but his words were the perfect fit for the province that has become a Pinocchio factory. Wherever you turn, some political leader or captain of industry is twisting the facts, hiding the facts or outright lying.

A recent example comes from Hydro One, which is owed $105 million by folks who cannot afford to pay their outrageously high electricity bills.

Global News recently asked Hydro One to say how many people in each of the past 10 years have had their electricity disconnected because they did not pay their power bills.

A simple question. An important question because the answer would show how many customers have been hurt seriously by skyrocketing Ontario electricity rates.

Ten years ago, the off peak charge for electricity in Ontario was 3.5 cents per kilowatt hour. Today it is 8.7 cents per kwh.

The mid rate back in 2006 was 7.5 cents per kwh.

Now it is 13.2. Peak rate was 10.5 and now is 18.

The current numbers will go up again on Nov. 1.

Plus, Hydro One has applied for a new set of increases for 2017 and 2018.

So it is reasonable for Ontarians to know how many people are being disconnected for non-payment. Especially considering that unpaid Hydro One bills now total more than $100 million.

Laura Cooke, Hydro One's senior vice-president of customer and corporate relations, did not think it was reasonable. She refused to give the number to Global News. She told the news outfit she reviewed the numbers herself and found no "appreciable difference" in the year-to-year numbers.

We are supposed to believe her. No appreciable difference in the number of people hurt by rates that have almost doubled.

That's hiding facts that should not be hidden from citizens. Ms. Cooke, however, simply is taking her cue from the government led by Premier Pinocchio.

Steven LeClair, Ontario's financial accountability officer, has said the Liberal government is keeping secret financial information on Hydro One and on the health-care system and major infrastructure projects.

LeClair has said the government has refused to give him information on the financial effects of its move to sell 60 per cent of Hydro One. Or, how it came up with an estimate of the sale's value. His calculations show that selling off part of Hydro One actually will cost Ontario taxpayers money.

He has said his office has to use other data and do its own calculations to determine the financial effects of government policies.

"Are Ontarians in the dark about it?" he told The Globe and Mail. "I'd say yes. What happens is, the government doesn't reveal its underlying assumptions and forecasts used in the projections, so it leaves us having to create our own things because we're not exactly sure where the government has got its information from."

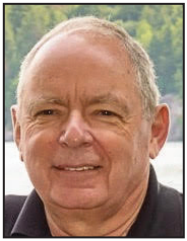

He also says that Ontario does not release fiscal information that would help us all determine if budget forecasts are accurate or pumped up.

The reason the government is withholding information from Mr. LeClair and its citizens has to be obvious: Ontario's financial situation is much more dire than any of us suspect. The government has promised to balance the provincial budget by fiscal 2017-18. It looks like the only way they will be able to do that is by sleight of hand, which includes hiding facts and spinning out whoppers.

Meanwhile, we know from the Ontario Energy Board that the $105,583,215 in arrears that Hydro One was trying to collect in 2015 was owed by 225,952 customers. That is 1,750 customers more than in 2014.

That still does not tell us how many households have been disconnected because of arrears. My guess is that it is an "appreciable" number.

Just as important; what is the number of people who have cut back on groceries and other life necessities just to pay those outrageous electricity bills?

Betty and the Bobs back in Minden

by CHAD INGRAM
Times Staff

Quirky, eclectic and energetic, Betty and the Bobs will bring their unique style back to Minden on Sept. 24 for a dance at the Minden Hills Community Centre.

Formed in 2000, the band is a collaboration of Toronto-based musicians, each with their own solo careers. It's the third year they'll be coming to Minden to play the Blister Ball, which coincides with the Hike Haliburton Festival.

"Betty and the Bobs shows are a whole bunch of fun," says member Suzie Vinnick. "It's like a variety show and we get to play a bunch songs we don't usually play in our solo shows. Sometimes we do more listening-type shows where folks are seated and sometimes we play dances like the one we'll be doing in Haliburton."

Like most of the band's members, Vinnick is a multi-instrumentalist; a singer, bassist guitarist and mandolin player. Other members are Sooz Schlanger on vocal and fiddle; Katherine Wheatley on vocals and guitar; David Woodhead on vocals, bass and mandolin; Wendell Ferguson on guitar and vocals; Rich Greenspoon on drums; and David Matheson on piano and vocals.

Attendees can expect a danceable mix of country, blues, R&B, gospel, old jazz as well some original and sometimes whacky songs.

"This will be our third time playing the Hike Haliburton Festival and we're so excited to be back again," Vinnick says. "And it's a treat for us to get to play a dance again – we get to pull out some of our more dance-able faves!"

Many of the band's members have played in Haliburton County in solo shows at various times and look forward to coming to the area.

"I personally love spending time in Haliburton and am so glad my musical travels take me there so often," Vinnick says. "It's such a beautiful area and folks are incredibly supportive of music any time I come up to play."

Hosted by the Haliburton County Folk Society, the show starts at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $25 per person or $20 for folk society members and students. They can be purchased online at www.haliburtonfolk.com, at Halco Electronics in Haliburton Village and at Organic Times in Minden.

HCPL's DVD of the Month: The Little Prince

When an ambitious mother tries to get her daughter into the prestigious Werth Academy, her life plan leaves little time for play and imagination. When the little girl and her mother move into a new neighborhood to be closer to her prospective school, the little girl soon meets the mysterious old aviator who has an incredible story to tell. After crashing his plane in the Sahara desert, the aviator encountered the Little Prince, who lived on a planet scarcely bigger than himself and who was in need of a friend. The aviator regales the little girl with stories of the Little Prince, his adventures among the stars, his need for a sheep to stop the baobab trees from taking over his tiny home of Asteroid

B612, and the rose that broke his heart. But when little girl's mother finds out she has been shirking her studies, she forbids her from visiting the aviator. With the aviator losing hope that he will ever find the Little Prince again, and the little girl more convinced than ever that he can be found, she embarks on an adventure beyond her wildest imagination.

The Little Prince is an animated feature that pays homage to the classic tale by Antoine Saint-Exupéry, and reminds us why this story about growing up too fast and losing our imaginative spark is still relevant over 70 years later. The DVD and the book are available to reserve at the Haliburton County Public Library.

The Little Prince is this month's DVD promoted by Haliburton County Public Library. It tells the story of a girl and an aviator, who tells her the story of the Little Prince who lives alone on Asteroid B612.

Keeping lake levels up through dry summer

by JENN WATT
Editor

Spring and summer of 2016 presented particularly difficult weather conditions for the staff at Parks Canada as they grappled with management of the Trent Severn Waterway and the lakes that feed the system.

A surprisingly wet March followed by the driest summer in recent history required an innovative approach to managing the water.

At their meeting on Saturday at Haliburton's fish hatchery, members of the Coalition for Equitable Water Flow praised the staff managing the complex system and noted that extreme weather was becoming the norm.

Ted Spence, chairman of CEWF's executive committee, said 2016 offered up "one of the most incredible situations we've ever faced."

"In the spring, there was a relatively warm winter, relatively limited snowpack and in the first week of March we posted to our website that Trent Severn had started to replace logs in our dams and we were happy. It seemed the right thing to do," said Spence.

The lakes began to fill up, but then over the course of eight days in March five inches of rain fell. Lake levels went up "in most cases, with ice still in place," he said.

CEWF has been gathering reports of damage from that ice to give to TSW management for their records, executive member Bruce McClennan said, though the group does not fault staff.

According to acting water management engineer Colin Clarke, the town of Minden was top of mind throughout the spring. Regular communication between Minden Hills and Parks Canada as well as the Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry helped as the decision was made to keep many lakes and the Gull River that flows through town as high as possible to avoid flooding.

As the region went from high water to drought, TSW management had to change gears, limiting flow on lakes and reducing the flow through the Otonabee River in Peterborough County.

"By May 31, we had pushed to absolute minimum flow on the Otonabee River," Clarke told the group.

Knowing very little rain was coming, Clarke said it was decided the reservoir lakes in the Haliburton County region needed to be kept as full as possible.

"We were basically keeping the Kawartha's high, or letting the rain water sit in there every time it did rain, in order to reduce the amount flow we needed from the Haliburton lakes.

I just want to emphasize how significant the shortfall was in terms of water resources.

— TED SPENCE, CHAIRMAN OF CEWF

That was the strategy," he said.

The strategy worked.

"The late spring and summer, which is actually been about the driest period that most of us have ever experienced, and yet most of our members looking out the front door of their cottage think it's been a normal year. And it's been anything but normal, but what we've seen on our lakes has been much closer to normal than we might have imagined was possible," Spence said.

According to figures presented at the meeting, between May 1 and Aug. 12, in Haliburton 178.2 mm of rain fell, 59 per cent of what normal precipitation (304.1 mm) for that time period would be. Peterborough and Trenton were worse off, receiving 31 per cent and 40 per cent of normal rain respectively.

"The Weather Network said that total for the middle of August represented the driest May to August period since 1914. That's 102 years since the last time it was that dry," Spence said of the Peterborough region.

"I just want to emphasize how significant the shortfall was in terms of water resources," he said.

Just as conditions were reaching a breaking point in early August and a drastic drawing down the reservoir lakes seemed unavoidable – triggering public notices that lake levels were about to drop substantially – the whole region received a wallop of rain.

While precipitation levels were extremely low up to Aug. 12, when figures are adjusted to capture precipitation to Aug. 31, Haliburton ended up receiving 99 per cent of normal rainfall with 338.6 mm. (Peterborough did not fare as well, with 40 per cent of normal precipitation. Trent received 67 per cent of normal.)

Jewel Cunningham, director of Ontario Waterways at Parks Canada, told the group that the government had been shifting to more science based decision making for the TSW, which has helped in managing water levels. She highlighted millions of dollars from the federal government to repair, and in some cases replace, infrastructure throughout the waterway.

Dam safety was also raised by Clarke, who said he'd seen photos of people tubing and paddling around dams and jumping off bridges or playing in the splash of a spillway. He asked the group to remind their members of the danger the dams pose should someone fall in.

CEWF has 32 member lakes, representing 91 per cent of the reservoir lake capacity, and some 35,000 shoreline property owners. Since their formation in 2006, the group has worked on improving communications with the government and management of the TSW, advocating for a water management approach that takes all portions of the massive navigation system into consideration. Recently, the CEWF joined with local municipalities to create the Upper Trent Water Management Project, which met for the first time in June.

New optimism for new football season

by DARREN LUM
Times Staff

It's a new season and there are a few new faces at the gridiron for the Red Hawks football team, but the game remains a favourite of the coaches.

Coach Derek Little, who is co-coaching the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School juniors with volunteer coach Dave Lloyd, encouraged his new players, reminding them of his passion for the sport.

"This is the best game in the world ... there's a spot for everyone," he said, referring to how all body types and physical attributes are relevant.

After the retirement of teacher coaches Bruce Griffith and Tim Davies, who both spent decades coaching either the junior or senior teams, principal Dan Marsden has stepped in and will co-coach the senior team with community coach Raavo Laidla. Marsden is excited to be joining the program. He hasn't coached football for close to 22 years. He last coached the first two years he worked at the school as a teacher.

In practice the team was working on a lot of pass plays with Rylan Gwyn at the pivot. Senior Sage Christiano was in practice leading the offensive line, protecting Gwyn, who was regularly looking for the very tall Chris Thompson.

Lloyd assumes a greater role with the juniors now that Davies retired. He helped coach the juniors last year and joined because of his son. His football resume includes playing as a defensive lineman for University of Guelph Gryphons and before coming here he coached the Huronia Stallions.

On the first day of practice there were close to 50 players for both squads, which included 30 for the juniors, who were put through their paces with several physical drills, including new tackling and blocking drills, as part of a new program implemented by Football Canada called Safe Contact. The Times will have a story in a future edition about details for this new initiative to reduce injuries.

Before this week's confirmation of junior teams, there has been a proposal for eight

It might have been only the first day of school, but the Red Hawks football program was in full swing, as the juniors were getting in shape for the 2016 season on Tuesday, Sept. 6 at the Gary G. Brohman Athletic Field in Haliburton. There were 30 juniors at the practice, learning how to hit and getting into shape./DARREN LUM Staff total schools, which includes Thomas A. Stewart Secondary, Adam Scott, St. Peter's, Holy Cross, Kenner Collegiate Vocational Institute, Crestwood, Fenelon Falls Secondary School and Haliburton. Games will be held once a week. Teams are ranked this season one through eight. The Hawks are ranked seventh ahead of Kenner, who did not have a team last year. To encourage new and developing teams, the league will ensure lower ranked teams such as Haliburton do not play No. 1 ranked schools such as Crestwood.

Little and the juniors appreciated the seventh ranking and are optimistic to improve from last year's poor season.

"Only one way for us to go," he said, which was received with cheers.

Echoes from the Past & Times gone by

Step back in time with paper feature

By David Zilstra

Leafing through old issues of the Minden Times and Haliburton County Echo is a wonderful way to step back in time, and learn about the rich history of Haliburton County. The Times, which started in its current format in 1979, and the Echo about 100 years earlier in 1884, are both time capsules of the progress that shaped our past, and brought us to the present, one week at a time.

I like to grab a complete year of our archives at a time, and start reviewing the pages from January right to the end of a particular year. Reviewing each paper from the same year enables you to jump back in time, and magically recreate that year through the pages of each issue. Here we give a rare glimpse of our past by reproducing a random set of front pages of both the Echo and Times newspapers. Starting this week and running for the next ten weeks we will reproduce a historical front page of both the Echo and Times newspapers in each paper, and both pages in County Life.

The Echo and Times are proud to be the newspapers of record in our community, and we look forward to a bright future not only through the pages of our papers, but our social channels, websites and magazines like Summer Guide and Progress.

We hope you enjoy this step back in time and thank everyone for your continued support.

Refugee family arrives today

The refugee group sponsored by the Minden-Coboconk Refugee Committee is expected to arrive in this community later today. The committee received word Tuesday morning that the group would arrive in Toronto Wednesday afternoon.

According to immigration officials, the five individuals arrived in Winnipeg Saturday. This is a staging area for the incoming refugees where they receive their initial medical attention and begin the long process of becoming acclimatized to the country.

While details of the family unit is still sketchy, the committee is aware that the group consists of a wife and husband, their teenage son, and two nephews who are also teenagers. The husband is a mechanic and one of the teenagers has worked as a watch maker.

The committee has made arrangements to house the family group temporarily in a cottage in the Coboconk area. They will be transferred to the Minden area December 1 after final details have been made for the renting of a home in the vicinity of this community.

The imminent arrival of the refugees culminates several months of preparation which began this summer. Area churches, stretching from Carnarvon to Coboconk, joined in an ecumenical undertaking to sponsor a refugee family. The committee has been making plans for their arrival since then, and had been told earlier this month that it could be up to four months before a family is assigned to their sponsorship. The committee is headed by Reverend Douglas Miller of the Minden United Church.

Second century

Council upset by delays

Members of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township Council are pressing for the completion of a feasibility study which must proceed the construction of a new library in this community.

The members of council expressed their desire to get the project underway at a meeting held November 14. The study is necessary before Wintario funds, and possibly other government funding, will be made available for the project.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt said he felt the new library should be under construction by the spring. He pointed out that the federal government recently indicated that federal funds, through winter works programs, may be available and the municipality should be ready to take advantage of this.

Dr. A. Jamieson, a member of the library board, appeared before council to request that a number of paintings from the Andre Lapine collection, held by the municipality, be removed to Toronto for assessment. The paintings and a number of other objects are part of a collection that will be on display in any new art gallery. The assessment of their value will be required for the completion of a feasibility study. The council granted the permission.

In other library business, the council was informed that no resident of the municipality is a member of the County Library Board. The township has been without a representative for the past three years. A request was made that the council bring the matter to the attention of the county council in hopes of having a resident appointed.

The council also decided to have funds collected at the library for fees and fines placed in the building fund account.

Permission granted for snowmobile trails

The Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council has granted permission to the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association to brush out a number of trails along municipality roads. The permission was granted, in response to a written request, at the November 14 meeting of the council.

The association will be required to obtain permission for their trails from the adjacent property owners when cultivated trees and shrubs are to be trimmed back.

The areas in question are described as follows:

- Horseshoe Lake Roads numbers one and two in the area of lot 10, concession 7 and 8, both ways from the steel bridge at Mirror Lake.

- Dennison Road east from Horseshoe Lake Road number 2 along the north side of the road in the area already brushed out by Ontario Hydro.

- a portion of McArthur Road from near Ivan Misco's residence east to the junction of Duck Lake Road.

Club gets OK

The Ontario Ministry of Labour has approved the use of the Minden Curling Club for the coming season. The use of the building had been placed in doubt earlier this year when a structural assessment revealed the clubhouse could only carry a limited snow load.

Under the direction of the ministry, certain renovations were carried out to the structure. The snow load on the roof must be monitored throughout the winter season and use of the building curtailed when the load reaches a certain maximum.

The improvements made to the structure means, according to the Ministry of Labour standards, that the building can carry a maximum snow load of five pounds per square foot.

New bank

Toronto Dominion bank manager Al Mayo, pointing, discusses progress at the new Minden bank as a piece of equipment is unloaded from a truck. The manager says he expects the new facility to be open for business in late January. Most of the exterior work is now completed and workmen are concentrating on the interior work.

Missing yellow lab Taffy at the Farmhouse

AROUND THE TOWN

Patti Fleury

brucefleury1@hotmail.com

Here at the old farmhouse nine days have gone by since yellow lab Taffy passed away and we still look for her in her usual spots. Two weeks after losing our first yellow lab "King" to mast cell cancer we learned that unknown to us daughter Megan had put our name on a list for a yellow lab on one of the rescue dog Facebook pages. Based on her heart warming letter of recommendation out of the many applicants we had been chosen as the adoptive parents. We decided to make the trip to Omemee simply as a courtesy to explain why we were reluctant to have a new dog so early after losing King. Once that face appeared in the kitchen doorway of her foster home we were hooked. That was almost 10 years ago and Taffy had a hard act to follow but she did it with her loving nature. Her health had been failing and that Sunday night when she did not return after her pre-bedtime outing in the lantern's glow we saw her lying silent in the dooryard. She was not alone for pressed up against her was the young cat Jake who refused to leave her side. My affection for Jake has now grown realizing how perceptive he was. Megan understands that at this point in our lives under no circumstances is she to repeat her secret search for another dog. However if one should just come to the farm abandoned and in need of a family like Lady did years ago along with her litter of nine beautiful newborn pups that would be a different story. We raised and placed all those pups and their mother but that is story for another day.

It is so nice to welcome a new Kinmount resident. Congratulations go out to Jessica and Greg Callaghan on the arrival of their son Easton Sept. 3. Jessica is the owner of JC's Cuts and More so many of us "regulars" may be sporting a little longer hairdo for a little longer.

I think that September is my favourite month of the year. Taking excerpts from the Kinmount United Church's newsletter written by Bill Lee September was originally the seventh month in the Roman calendar until 153BC. Now the ninth month, it's birth flowers are the forget-me-not, the morning glory and the aster. September's birthstone is the sapphire which stands for clear thinking. Bill also explains that in 2016 the first day of fall officially arrives in our area on Thursday, Sept. 22 at 10:21 p.m. Apparently equinoxes are not full day events but occur at the exact moment the Sun crosses the celestial equator – an imaginary line in the sky above the Earth's equator.

The "friends of Galway" will meet this Friday, Sept. 16 at 7 p.m. in the Galway Hall. Member Guy Scott will be speaking on the book Where Duty Leads recently published by the Greater Harvey Historical Society chronicling the stories of the 109th Battalion in the First World War. Those attending are invited to bring along information to share about their family members' involvement in either the First World War or Second. Anyone with a particular interest in the former Galway Township is invited to come along to this informal meeting. PLMV2016038 - Part of Lot 8, Concession 14, Geographic Township of Snowdon on a vacant lot on Cassia Lane and located on Canning Lake (see key map).

Purpose and Effect of the Application: The application is a requirement of the approval of Consent Application H77/15 to correct a building encroachment. The purpose of the application is to seek relief from the minimum lot area and lot frontage requirement of the Township's Zoning By-law. The proposed lot area is 0.216 ha (0.53 acres) and the proposed lot frontage is 30.5 metres (100 feet). This application was originally heard on June 27, 2016, but was deferred at the request of the applicant to allow for the preparation of a new survey.

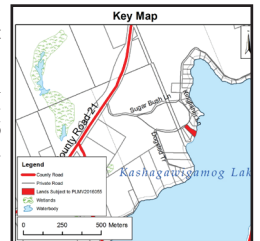

PLMV2016053 - Part of Lot 9, Concession 11, Geographic Township of Minden located at 1037 Mohican Trail on Twelve Mile Lake (see key map).

Purpose and Effect of the Application: The purpose of the application is to seek relief from the minimum shoreline setback requirement of the Township's Zoning By-law, which is 23 metres. The applicants have an existing dwelling located with the shoreline setback and their intention is to construct a replacement dwelling in substantially the same location. The proposed dwelling would have a gross floor area of 183.7 square metres (1,978 square feet) and would maintain the variable shoreline setback with the closest distance of 8.5 metres (28 feet). The Township's Zoning By-law provides regulations that permit the expansion of dwellings located in the shoreline setback, however the applicant's proposed dwelling would not comply with these provisions.

PLMV2016047 - Part of Lot 28, Concession 5, Geographic Township of Snowdon; municipally known as 1014 Bumblebee Lane; and located on the Irondale River & Salerno Lake Creek.

Purpose and Effect of the Application: The purpose of the application is to seek relief from the minimum shoreline setback requirement of the Township's Zoning By-law, which is 30 metres for a septic tile field. The proposed septic tile field would be located 15.25 metres (50 feet) from the shoreline.

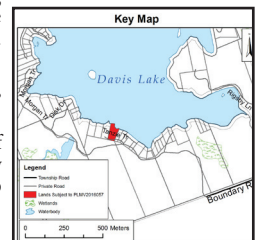

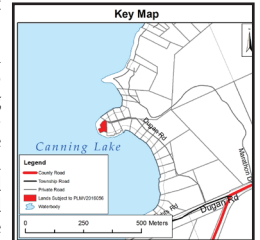

PLMV2016054 - Part of Lot 26, Concession 5, Geographic Township of Minden located at 1038 Voyager Trail on Lake Kashagawigamog (see key map).

Purpose and Effect of the Application: The purpose of the application is to seek relief from the minimum shoreline setback requirement of the Township's Zoning By-law, which is 23 metres. The applicants have an existing dwelling located within the shoreline setback and their intention is to construct a replacement dwelling in substantially the same location. The proposed dwelling would have a walk-out basement and would have a ground floor area (not including decks) of 142.1 square metres (1,529 square feet) and a total floor area of 306.6 square metres (3,300 square feet). The proposed dwelling would maintain the variable shoreline setback with the closest distance of 10.5 metres (34 feet). The Township's Zoning By-law provides regulations that permit the expansion of dwellings located in the shoreline setback, however the applicant's proposed dwelling would not comply with these provisions.

PLMV2016056 - Part of Lot 17, Concession 1, Geographic Township of Minden located at 1149 Dugan Road on Canning Lake (see key map).

Purpose and Effect of the Application: The purpose of the application is to seek relief from the minimum shoreline setback requirement of the Township's Zoning By-law, which is 23 metres for a dwelling and 30 metres for a septic system. The applicants have an existing dwelling located with the shoreline setback and their intention is to construct a larger replacement dwelling in substantially the same location. The proposed dwelling would have a ground floor area (not including decks) of 258.5 square metres (2,782 square feet) and a total floor area of 425 square metres (4,578 square feet). Purpose and Effect of the Application: The purpose of the application is to seek relief from the minimum shoreline setback requirement of the Township's Zoning By-law which is 23 metres. The applicants have requested a setback of 15 metres (50 feet) to construct a garage with a floor area of 67.6 square metres (728 square feet).

Have Your Say: Input on the above noted applications are welcome and encouraged. You can provide input by speaking at the public meeting or by making a written submission to the Township. If you do not attend the public meeting, it may proceed in your absence and, except as otherwise provided in The Planning Act, you will not be entitled to any further notice in the proceedings.

Written Submission: To provide input in writing, or to request written notice of the decision, please contact the undersigned or e-mail iclendenning@mindenhills.ca. If you do not make a written submission prior to a decision, nor make an oral submission at the Public Hearing, and subsequently submit an appeal of the decision, the Ontario Municipal Board may dismiss the appeal.
